TRANSFER OF PERSONAL DATA TO THIRD COUNTRIES

When we transfer personal data to a country outside the EU/EEA, we will take necessary measures to ensure that the personal data is processed in a secure manner by applying an appropriate safeguard, e.g. the EU Commission's standard contractual clauses. You have the right to obtain a copy of the standard contractual clauses by contacting us.

Valida will also share your personal information with third parties in other countries to collect, verify, validate or translate information, such as your educational qualifications or employment history, from countries or regions where you have lived, worked or studied. Where there are legal restrictions on transfers of personal information, these transfers are done based on one or more of the following:

- Regulators have decided that personal information will be adequately protected in the country to which it is transferred.
- There are signed contractual clauses with the recipient that are deemed by the relevant authority to ensure adequate protection of personal information.
- We have your consent for us to transfer your personal information outside of your country of residence.
- The transfers are otherwise permitted by law

We may transfer your personal data outside the EU/EEA to the countries listed in the table below. The list is not exhaustive, as applicable countries may vary as necessary for us to provide the services.

YOUR RIGHTS

A summary of the rights you have as a data subject under the GDPR follows below.

Right to withdraw your consent

When the processing of your personal data is based on your consent as a legal basis, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time by contacting us via the contact information listed at the bottom of this privacy policy.

Right of access

You have the right to receive information about whether we process personal data about you and in such cases receive a copy of the personal data including information on the purposes of the processing, categories of personal data processed, categories of recipients of the personal data, retention periods, your rights regarding the processing, the existence of automated decision-making (including profiling), information on the appropriate safeguards relating to the transfer of your personal data to countries outside the EU/EEA and, if the personal data has not been collected from you, from where the data is collected.

Right to rectification

If the personal data we process about you is inaccurate, incomplete or outdated, you have the right to ask us to rectify or complete such personal data without undue delay.

Right to be forgotten

You often have the right to request deletion of your personal data without undue delay. Such is the case when (i) the personal data is no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were processed, (ii) you withdraw your consent and there is no other legal basis for the processing, (iii) you have objected to the processing of your personal data for direct marketing purposes or to processing based on legitimate interest as legal basis and we cannot show definitive reasons for the processing which outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, (iv) the processing does not take place to establish, exercise or defend legal claims, (v) the personal data has been unlawfully processed or (vi) the personal data has to be erased for compliance with a legal obligation.

Right to object

You have the right to object at any time to the processing of personal data based on legitimate interest as legal basis. We will then cease to process the personal data, unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate reasons for the processing that outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, or if the processing takes place for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

Right to restriction of processing

Under certain circumstances you have the right to request that we restrict the processing of your personal data. Such is the case when (i) you consider that the personal data is not correct and you are awaiting our verification of the accuracy of the personal data, (ii) the processing is unlawful and you, instead of deleting the personal data, wish the processing to be restricted, (iii) we no longer need the personal data for the purposes of the processing but you need them to establish, exercise or defend legal claims or (iv) when you have objected to processing based on a legitimate interest and you are waiting for a verification on whether our legitimate reasons outweigh yours.

Right to data portability

When personal data you have provided to us is processed by automated means and based on your consent or on a contract with you as legal basis, you have the right to obtain your personal data in a commonly used and machine-readable format and request that such personal data is transmitted to another controller.

Right to lodge complaints

You have the right to file complaints regarding our processing of your personal data with the Swedish Authority for Privacy Protection (Sw. Integritetsskyddsmyndigheten), Box 8114, SE-104 20 Stockholm.

CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

We reserve the right to change this privacy policy at any time. In the event of changes to this Privacy Policy, we will publish the amended privacy policy on www.valida.se with information on when the changes will come into effect. Further, we may also notify amendments by other appropriate means.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions about this privacy policy, the processing of your personal data or if you wish to exercise your rights under this privacy policy or applicable legislation.
